

ETHICS CHARTER

SkinCeuticals is a leader in the professional skincare industry because our company is committed to the highest research and testing standards. Our formulations and claims are backed by science, as evidenced by numerous peer-reviewed articles published in respected medical journals.

- We use pharmaceutical-grade ingredients and perform rigorous testing.
- We lead the industry as one of the first companies to provide scientific evidence to support our products' benefits, and adhere to medically accepted protocols.
- Our clinical studies are dermatologist-controlled.
- SkinCeuticals does not make claims based only on user perception.
- Our clinical research goes beyond the standard review of visible clinical endpoints, to studying the biological effects in skin through rigorous biomarker investigation.
- We are committed to product efficacy without compromising safety. All of our ingredients are proven to be safe for long-term use.
- We consider the environmental impact of our manufacturing practices and product packaging.

At SkinCeuticals, our mission is to improve skin health. Dedicated to this purpose, we make one simple promise: To provide advanced skincare backed by science. Our commitment to science is second only to our commitment to our customers, which is why the skin, its health and our customers' best interests are, and will always be, our primary concerns.